1. BRAND OVERVIEW

Brand Name

Nudge AI
Tagline: Think less. Do more. Ship faster.

Founding Story

Nudge AI was founded in 2022 by Priya Nair and James Okafor — a product manager and a machine learning engineer who were both exhausted by the same thing: spending 80% of their time on tasks that didn't need a human. Priya was drowning in status updates and meeting summaries. James was rewriting the same boilerplate code every sprint. They built Nudge AI as an internal tool to automate the boring parts of knowledge work. Six months later, their waitlist had 12,000 people who felt exactly the same way.

Mission Statement

> To eliminate the cognitive overhead of modern work so that humans can spend their time on what actually matters — thinking, creating, and deciding.

Vision

A world where every professional has an AI collaborator working silently in the background — handling the repetitive, the routine, and the forgettable — so that people can be fully present for the work that moves things forward.

Core Values

- Clarity over complexity — we build tools that feel obvious to use
- Speed without sacrifice — fast should never mean sloppy
- Human-first automation — AI assists, humans decide
- Radical transparency — no black boxes in our product or our company
- Builders over talkers — we ship, then we speak

2. TARGET AUDIENCE

Demographics

- Age: 24–42
- Roles: Product managers, software engineers, startup founders, marketing leads, operations managers
- Company size: 5-person startups to 500-person scale-ups
- Geography: English-speaking markets — US, UK, India, Canada, Australia
- Tech comfort: Medium to high; comfortable with SaaS tools, used to Notion, Slack, Linear, Figma

Psychographics

- Chronically busy but not proud of it — they want to work smarter, not harder
- Early adopters with healthy skepticism — they'll try anything once but won't tolerate friction
- Strong personal brand builders — active on LinkedIn or X, care about how they're perceived professionally
- Output-obsessed — they measure their day by what they shipped, not hours clocked

Customer Pain Points

- Meeting overload with zero documentation afterward
- Writing the same emails, PRDs, and status updates every week
- Context-switching killing deep work
- AI tools that feel powerful in demos but useless in real workflows
- Not enough hours to do the thinking work they were actually hired for

Typical Use Cases

- Auto-generating meeting summaries and action items from transcripts
- Drafting PRDs, technical specs, and project briefs from rough notes

- Turning Slack threads into structured decisions
- Generating weekly status reports with one click
- Reviewing and rewriting internal documentation

3. BRAND VOICE & TONE GUIDELINES

Tone Description

Nudge AI sounds like a brilliant colleague who's also really efficient. Sharp, warm, direct. Never preachy about AI. Never breathlessly excited about technology. We speak plainly, get to the point, and occasionally say something that makes people nod and go 'yes, exactly.'

Think: Stripe's clarity + Basecamp's honesty + a dash of dry humour.

Words We Like

- Ship · Build · Actually · Quietly · Boring (as a compliment) · Precise · Fast · Real · Teammates · Background

Words We Avoid

- Revolutionary · Disruptive · Game-changer · Leverage (as a verb) · Synergy · Unlock potential · Empower · Next-gen · AI-powered (unless necessary)

Writing Style Examples

❌ Wrong:

> Nudge AI leverages cutting-edge generative AI to empower teams to unlock their full productivity potential.

✅ Right:

> Nudge AI writes your meeting notes so you can stop writing meeting notes.

❌ Wrong:

> Our revolutionary platform disrupts the way modern teams collaborate and communicate.

✅ Right:

> We handle the boring parts. You handle the rest.

Turn bullet points, rough notes, or voice memos into polished documents in seconds.

Key Features: PRDs, briefs, specs, proposals — 15+ templates, editable outputs, tone adjustment.

Target User: Product managers, founders, ops leads writing internal documentation.

Nudge Digest

Weekly auto-generated status reports pulled from your tools — Jira, Linear, GitHub, Notion.

Key Features: Connects to 12 work tools, custom report templates, one-click share to Slack or email.

Target User: Engineering leads, startup founders, anyone who dreads the Friday update.

Nudge Inbox

AI that reads your emails, flags what's urgent, drafts replies, and archives the rest.

Key Features: Priority scoring, smart reply drafts, snooze & follow-up reminders, Gmail & Outlook support.

Target User: Executives, founders, and anyone managing a high-volume inbox.

Nudge Coach

A private AI thinking partner for working through decisions, strategies, and stuck moments.

Key Features: Structured thinking prompts, decision frameworks, Socratic questioning mode, private by default.

Target User: Founders, senior ICs, and anyone who thinks better out loud.

Nudge API

Embed Nudge AI's summarisation and drafting engine directly into your product.

Key Features: REST API, webhook support, custom model fine-tuning, SOC 2 compliant.
Target User: SaaS companies and developer teams building AI features into their own products.

5. SOCIAL MEDIA STRATEGY

Key Messaging Themes

- The cost of boring work — attention, energy, time — is real and underrated
- AI should be invisible. If you're thinking about the AI, we've failed.
- The best product is the one that disappears into your workflow
- Ship culture: celebrate builders, not talkers

Hashtag Strategy

Primary (use on every post):

`#NudgeAI` `#BuildWithNudge`

Secondary (rotate based on content):

`#ProductivityTools` `#AIForWork` `#MakerTools` `#ShipIt` `#AsyncWork` `#BuildInPublic`

Posting Style Guidelines

- LinkedIn: 3x per week — one insight post, one product demo, one founder story
- X / Twitter: daily — short, sharp, occasionally spicy takes on work culture and AI
- Instagram: 2x per week — visual product walkthroughs and behind-the-scenes building
- No generic 'AI is the future' posts. Every post must say something specific.
- First line of every post must be scroll-stopping — a stat, a contradiction, or a question

Example Social Media Captions

> LinkedIn: "We tracked 200 PMs for a month. On average, they spent 6.4 hours per week writing things that no one reads. We built Nudge Scribe to give that time back. Demo in comments."

> X/Twitter: "Hot take: if your AI tool needs a prompt engineer, it's not ready for work yet."

> Instagram: "From voice memo to full PRD in 40 seconds. This is what your Monday morning should look like. [video]"

6. BRAND VISUAL IDENTITY

Brand Colors

- Primary — Nudge Teal #0D7377: Used for all primary CTAs, headings, and brand marks
- Dark Navy #14213D: Body text, backgrounds for dark-mode assets
- Warm Amber #F4A261: Accent for highlights, notifications, and campaign moments
- Cloud White #F9FAFB: Page backgrounds, cards, breathing room
- Slate #5A6A7A: Secondary text, captions, metadata

Typography

- Display / Headings: Canela — editorial, warm, confident
- Body text: Inter — clean, readable, neutral
- Monospace / Code: JetBrains Mono — technical credibility
- Never use more than 2 typefaces in a single design

Design Principles

- Generous whitespace — breathing room signals confidence
- No gradients unless they serve a purpose — flat before flashy
- Data visualisations preferred over stock imagery
- Rounded corners on cards (8px) — approachable but not childish
- Motion is functional: animate to inform, not to impress

Image Style Guidelines

- Real workspaces, real screens — no staged stock photos
- Product screenshots always use the actual UI — no mockup inflation
- People: candid, mid-work, diverse — no posed boardroom shots
- Illustrations: minimal line-art style in Teal and Navy only

7. MARKETING CAMPAIGN IDEAS

Campaign 1 — 'The Hours Back' Challenge

- Concept: Ask users to track how many hours per week they spend on repetitive writing tasks, then show what Nudge gives back.
- Platforms: LinkedIn, X, Instagram Reels
- Format: 30-day user challenge. People post their 'hours reclaimed' weekly. Nudge amplifies top posts.
- Slogan: "What would you do with 6 extra hours?"

Campaign 2 — 'Boring Is Beautiful'

- Concept: Reclaim 'boring' as the highest compliment for an AI tool. The best automation is invisible, reliable, and utterly unsexy.
- Platforms: LinkedIn thought leadership, Product Hunt, Hacker News
- Format: Long-form essay by founders + visual series celebrating unglamorous productivity wins
- Slogan: "The most exciting thing about Nudge AI is that you'll never think about it."

Campaign 3 — 'Ship Notes'

- Concept: Partner with 10 indie founders and PMs building in public. Nudge sponsors their weekly build updates — generated by Nudge Digest.
- Platforms: X / Twitter, Substack, LinkedIn newsletters
- Format: Co-branded weekly update posts. Real data, real products, real transparency.
- Slogan: "Built with Nudge. Shipped on Friday."
